Lisbon, 8th November 2018

Web Summit 2018 kicked off for another four days of tech and business talks live from Lisbon. More than 3,000 national and international attendees witnessed Europe's largest tech event on the first day.

From November 6th to November 8th, eHAction's Work Package 2 was represented in SPMS's stand by Diogo Gomes, Coordinator of Communication and External Affairs, and Diogo Canudo, part of the Communication team.

The role of Work Package 2 at the Web Summit was to highlight and support the dissemination strategies and activities of this Work Package, in order to inform the Member States/Countries (MS/C) community about the Joint Action, its orientation and available outputs for further exploitation.

BACKGROUND

Web Summit is an annual technology conference happening in Lisbon since 2016. Speakers from all kinds of countries and companies participate by sharing their experiences and knowledge.

Web Summit 2018 featured many important and relevant speakers such as European Commissioner Margrethe Vestager and United Nations Secretary General António Guterres.

In order to support the quick and large growth of this event, Paddy Cosgrave, Web Summit CEO, and António Costa, Portuguese Prime Minister, revealed that Lisbon will remain as host city until 2028.

Since eHAction's vision and approach aims to empower people and innovate the use of health data for European citizens, the WP 2 felt the further need to be at this major event.
